

What would you like to learn or teach?

Your answer to this question will become a proposal for a topic you would like to explore in a workshop, either as a host, offering your insight, or as a participant, taking part in the session.

Propose a topic

Take a proposal card and describe the topic you wish to explore in a one-hour workshop. By taking initiative, you invite others to connect, forming a cluster of shared intent.

Show your interest

Do you want to share your skills or insights by hosting a workshop?
Take a blue name card.

Do you want to learn about a topic by participating in a workshop?
Take an orange name card.

Write down your name, email address and twitter handle. This way, we can let you know which workshops will materialise on Friday afternoon.

Attach your card around a proposed workshop that has your interest. You can leave your name cards around as many topics as you like.

Come on Friday to host or participate

We will see which topics have gained more interest on Thursday afternoon. Join us on Friday to participate in the sessions, or maybe even get to host one.

Have fun!